INTRODUCTION.

I had neither the fortune nor misfortune of being born in New England. I was the youngest of a family of five children, all of whom but myself, were born in Massachusetts. My father died the day I was 13 months of age, and we have always been taught to spell, and pronounce the name Dunnel. When I was in my 17th year, I was sent to Massachusetts, with a power of attorney, to collect the division of an estate of one of my father's deceased brothers, and then, for the first time learned that some of my uncles and cousins spelled the name Dwinnel, and others Dunnel. This discrepancy in the manner of spelling the name, made no difficulty in court with the settlement of the estate, for they all pronounced it Dunnel, and therefore it made little impression upon my mind at that time.

After my return to New York, I enquired of my mother, and found she had known of this discrepancy from my father, who was baptized Dwinel. I have now his Bible in my possession, where he writes his name Henry Dwinel, A.D., 1774, being then in his 12th year. Still when he arrived at age, he always wrote it Dunnel, because it was so pronounced, and he knew it to be correct.

Several years afterwards, I had an opportunity of revisiting that part of Massachusetts, and then for the first time, having an introduction to an intelligent gentleman in his 85th year, who was an intimate friend of my grandfather and great grandfather, and who referred me at once to their place of birth. This circumstance excited my curiosity, and I commenced searching the records of births in Massachusetts, and tracing back the family, found the descendants of the first couple in this country, spread over the Eastern and Middle States, to the number of nearly a thousand, from the official records, living near each other, and even in the same small town, without a suspicion of being descendants of the same couple, because of the great dissimilarity in the spelling.

The farm which was cultivated by the original couple in 1660, is still cultivated in 1861 by their posterity, and has always been in the possession of the same family.

I have been surprised to find how few people in this country care to know whether they ever had any great-grandfather, unless they could trace him to some robber duke, or baron bold, and thereby prove themselves "degenerate sons of noble sires."

I had traditions of the fathers offered me of the Macdonnells of Scotia, and O'Donnells of the Green Isle, of the Du in nels of France, and the crest of the house to prove it, too. But having no ambition of that kind, I have confined my genealogical observations to strict matters of fact, which could be proved by perfect and legal documents in any court in Christendom.

From these I learn there was residing in the town of Topsfield, Essex county, Mass., a large landholder, owning lands extending from Middleton to Wenham. From whence came he? Family tradition always said France. The Christian names of himself and his children favor that; but still he may have been previously from Scotland or Ireland, the surname would indicate that, for Donnel or Dunnel are old Scotch and English names, very ancient, and at that time the orthography of the English language, especially in the article of names, was singularly deficient. How he would have spelled it himself, we can not say, because he had not the habit or custom of writing it himself, and like, some of King John's barons, merely affixed his sign and seal to such documents as his learned scribe had written for him. Therefore, we can easily account for some of the earliest papers saved by the family, a perfect copy of some of which I annex:

12 DUNNEL AND DWINELL GENEALOGY.

Acknowledged before John Appleton Judge, as their free Act & Deed

And in Sept. 3rd 1718. They again came forward, and disposed of other Lands some 30 Acres, not mentioned in the other distribution, and signed by all the sons, as above, but not by the widow Mary.

In these official documents we see one piece of land bought by him as Michail Doniel, another piece as Michael Donell, and another piece exchanged by him by the name of Michael Dunwell, lastly, we see his last will and testament as Michael Dannel, and a mutual agreement after his death by his widow & children, in which the name of his widow and two sons is spelled Dannel, and that of the two youngest, Dunnill. But one other fact in regard to the oldest manner of spelling it: Rev. Joseph Capen, who was the officiating clergyman of Topsfield from 1684 to 1725, and baptized all that were born, in his list, spells the name of all, Dunnell. He was a learned man, and probably knew the name as well as any other person.

At any rate, however, the name of the different descendants may be spelled by them, I have introduced into this Genealogy, none but his children and their posterity.

DUNNEL GENEALOGY.

MICHAEL DUNNEL, Senior, m. Mary —; d. 1713 or 1717; his will proved March, 1717.

10. 9. JOHANNA, b. 1688; m. Nathaniel Hood of Lynn, Oct. 16, 1706.

Doctor MICHAÏLL DUNNELL, yeoman, b. 1670; m.
1st, Hannah —.

He was the first physician ever recorded in Topsfield, and is styled on old deeds as physician and chirurgeon. What were his medical studies previous to his acquiring his title, are not known at this day. His will was like that of his father, signed with his seal and mark, and not by himself, and therefore I do not deem it conclusive proof it had been written correctly, for it was written in his 84th year, and is spelled Dwinel. I have, contrary to Mr. Savage's authority, placed Hannah as his first wife, from a very close personal scrutiny of the records.

(S. P. Dwinel), that Michail, Jr., the doctor, had at different times, seven wives, and when questioned as to which he felt the strongest affection, replied "that he knew no difference."

This giving the old doctor the reputation of having had seven wives, was too severe. I should rather believe the old lady had a weak memory; he had of a surety five wives, for we have them all here, and that was more than the reputation of any doctor (one should suppose) could endure, between the two horns of the dilemma: That he had either been little skilled in physiology to select such an unhealthy lot, or had made way with them too hastily, secundum artem.

His will is dated July 14, 1753, gives to his wife "Mary, the use of all his lands, and to his son Michael 5 shillings in 7 yrs. after his own and his wife's death; to his son Stephen, 5 shillings, his son Jacob, 5 shillings, his grand-dau., Esther Balch, wife of David Balch, 5 shillings, son Benjamin, house and barn, and my land and meadow in Topsfield, and all else, bonds and book debts, &c., to his wife. THOMAS DWINEL, b. 1729; m. Hannah —.

"Hannah Dwinel owened the covenant June 22, 1777" (Boxford Church Records). "His wife's name occurs often in deeds in my possession. He sold his lands to Jacob Dwinel, with a dwelling, and removed to Boxford." The Jacob referred to, was my great grandfather, and very likely this Thomas was his brother.—Sarah Perkins Dwinel of Topsfield, letter to Henry G. Dunnel, June 8 and 12, 1855.

Also, the name of Thomas occurs frequently, but I am not able to distinguish him as s. of Michael, but I will add I have two letters, one from Keene, N. H., dated Sept. 6, 1791, Thomas Dwinel to John Dwinel, my grandparent, addressing him as loving cousin. My father is certain this was not 3d s. of Benjamin Dwinel of Keene. The other from Arundel, Me., dated 1793, from James Dearing, s. of Abigail Dwinel, who m. Humphrey Dearing, to his uncle Jacob Dwinel, stating, that he had heard of the death of his uncle and aunt, and they had left no children, and desired him to obtain his and his sister's portion of their estate. The name of his uncle and aunt are not mentioned, probably it was a s. or dau. of Michael Dwinel.—Letter from same, Aug. 11, 1855.

JONATHAN DUNNEL, s. of Thomas, b. 1702; d. in Millbury, 1782; m. Mehetable Kennay in Salem, Sept. 29, 1727.

He lived in Topsfield until about 1732. The first settlers of Sutton in Worcester county (now Millbury), moved in 1717. The name of Duennel or Dwinel, first appears on Sutton Records, when Jonathan came in company with Lieut. Hayward, now called Howard.

He settled, and was the original settler of the farm, now of John Park, in that part of Sutton now (1854), called Millbury, on the border of Dorothy pond. This farm was almost two miles long, extending from Hayward's down to the Providence road. (See map of Millbury, 1853.) Jonathan kept the only tavern between Worcester and Providence, and was called Landlord Duennel. This I learned from the late Deacon Waters of Millbury, who in 1854 was in his 84th year, and was well acquainted with him.

Jonathan divided his farm among his sons. David turned Shaker, and exchanged his with Parks, whose s. resided on it in 1854. His name is on the map of Millbury of 1853, as owner.

One s. sold his farm for Continental money, which turned out worthless; and in 1854, there was only one of the Dannels resident on any portion of the farm. June 15, 1735, Jonathan Dwennel and his wife, Mehetable, owned the covenant. Sept. 14, 1735, Mehetable Kennay, dau. of Henry Kennay and sister of Theophilus, was admitted into the church. Jonathan himself was also admitted into the church on the 25th Oct. 1741. He was selectman of Sutton in 1766, 1767-68-69. His name does not often occur on the public records. When he was m. he was living in Lynn. Two of the first children were b. previously to removing to Sutton, the rest in that place.

He kept a tavern here some years, and was comfortably managing his farm and his tavern, when he fell in with a branch of the community known as Shakers, and he and his wife became confirmed in the Shaker faith, and his house was changed from a country tavern to a Shaker meeting house. FINIS.

The reasons for the alphabetical letters in the place of the regular numbers, are various, but most powerful of all, and sufficient in my estimation, is this: I received these names on the Record after I had rewritten this Genealogy and renumbered it four different times.

I say to my kinsmen, I have finished for the present, the task I imposed upon myself, seven years since, of tracing the male descendants of the not poor, but honest yeomen of Topsfield, Essex county, Mass., Michail Donnel or Duinel. A stranger to most of you, a resident of a distant state, away from the Records, I have done the best I was able.

I have had the assistance of some of you, to whom I wish to return my thanks. In particular to Miss Harriet Lane Dwinel of West Millbury, Mass., Miss Sarah Perkins Dwinel of Topsfield, Mass., Mrs. Charlotte Dwinel, wife of Nathan Dagget Reed of Surrey, N. H., and also to Mr. J. D. Colony, Postmaster of Surrey, N. H., son of Sarah Duinel and Timothy Colony, and grandson of Benjamin Duinel and Mary Estes.

If I had had more correspondents among you like them, I should have been enabled to have made this Genealogy more interesting and more attractive, and more minute in details than it is now. And I say to all of you, if after perusal of these pages, you find I have omitted the names of any of the tribe, born before the year 1850, or any important information in respect to the abilities, peculiarities, or respectability, or wealth, which means the same thing, of any of them, I shall be pleased to have you send it to me at any or all times. So that, although I have not, and perhaps may never have any person to follow after me, who will collect, or publish a second or a reformed edition of the same, I will, while I live, treasure it up, and leave it to those who may come after us to preserve them all for a second edition, if they please.

Yours,

H. G. DUNNEL, M. D.,
